

About the Institute

The Institute of Pulmocare & Research was born in 2000 AD with a motto of Research, Education and Patient care.

With increasing urbanization, pollution, and other factors, the respiratory problems are on a rise. The institute is devoted to address them in an organised fashion with research activities to the best of its capacity. Thus, to its credit, the institute has already been granted the recognition as a Scientific and Industrial Research Organization by the Government of India. In the Institute, we have innovated some novel treatment approaches for different lung conditions and our activities have attracted attention and appreciations from all concerned. We are also involved in benevolence with significant rural activities.

We expect your support to nurture our dream child and earnestly solicit your best wishes with positive criticisms. Any donation to our institute for research and related activities is 175% tax exempted according to the sanction by the appropriate IT act.
